

MURDER CHARGE TOPS LIST OF 'DRINK' CRIMES

Formidable Arraignment of the Liquor Evil is Found in Week's Police Cases

Of the 117 arrests made by the police last week 29 were taken in custody for drunkenness. In spite of the tolerant eye of the police this many men were so badly intoxicated that the strong arm of the law was needed to steady their feet and moderate their wild ways until sobriety ensued once more.

The figures show plainly that approximately one-fourth of the arrests were directly attributed to booze. Examination of reports on many of the others will show that drink had something to do with the offense. If every case which came before the police in the last seven days were followed to its source few would remain without at least a liquor smell.

Taking cases at random from the police court calendar for the last seven days one finds some surprising instances of whisky's wicked ways.

For instance, a defendant paid $5 in court for committing a common nuisance. His plea was drunkenness. The same day another defendant was arraigned for first degree burglary and his greatest failing is said to be drink. Again on the same day Jim Omara paid $10 for drinking while on the tabu list and a handsome youngster in the navy before the court for breaking a window in twelfth while intoxicated.

An assault case called in police court Tuesday elicited from Prosecutor Chillingworth the remark: "He's a fine fellow if he would only let booze alone." On the same day a man was arrested for not paying his taxi bill, and gave the excuse that he was too drunk to care about paying anything.

Drink was ascribed as the reason why a defendant in court Wednesday had gone to a tenement house and kicked down the doors.

Last and saddest of all was the arraignment for murder of H. K. Lono-kapu, a well-to-do rancher on the Big Island, who is said to have killed his host while the two were engaged in a drunken argument.

DEAN OF CHINESE COLLEGE ON ECUADOR

On his way back to Nanking, China, where he has accepted the position of dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nanking, Prof. Josepa Balie is a passenger on the Pacific Mail steamer Ecuador, which is due to arrive here Sunday at 5 p. m. from San Francisco.

Prof. Balie has lived for many years in China and his educational work there is well known throughout the Orient. During the big flood in China, he came to the front and devised means whereby many of the poor Chinese families were saved.

He was to speak at the Chinese church on Fort street Sunday morning, but as the steamer is late this will be impossible.

THINK SHIPPING BOARD IS OVER LOCAL S. S. LINES

tion for such transportation than the rates, fares and charges filed in compliance with this section, except with the approval of the board and after 10 days' public notice in the form and manner prescribed by the board, stating the increase proposed to be made; but the board for good cause shown may waive such notice.

"Whenever the board finds that any rate, fare, charge, classification, tariff, regulation or practice demanded, charged, collected or observed by such carrier is unjust or unreasonable, it may determine, prescribe and order enforced a just and reasonable maximum rate, fare or charge, or a just and reasonable classification, tariff, regulation or practice."

Attempts to amend the sections were beaten several times while the bill was up in the senate, which leads to the belief here that the senate administration majority put them through in the form quoted above.

Local authorities hold that if the inter-island is put under the new shipping board, the public utilities commission will lose its jurisdiction and supervision over this corporation.

PLANS FOR BREWERY VERY INDEFINITE, ATTORNEY DECLARES

Plans for the establishment of a brewing plant in Honolulu by the Seattle Brewing & Malting Company are in a rather indefinite state according to R. W. Breckons, attorney for the company. A story was published Sunday morning which spoke of the establishment of the plant as an assured fact.

"The company already has four plants," said Breckons. "There has been some discussion of the advisability of constructing a plant in Honolulu but that is as far as the plans have progressed." He denied that the president of the company, L. Hemrich, is planning a visit here to make the final arrangements.

WILL PUT IN ROADS BEFORE HOMESTEADING

Bringing back from his trip of ten days to the island of Hawaii details of a new plan for opening up homestead areas—that of putting in good roads before allowing settlers to go upon the land—Bertram G. Rivenburgh, territorial land commissioner, returned yesterday morning, accompanied by Mrs. Rivenburgh and their son.

Rivenburgh says that there will soon be a large quantity of land available for homesteading. He was busy on the recent trip collecting data as to acreage, and now announces that the Kaupahu tract in North Kohala will open soon. This contains about 700 acres. Near Lihapohoe an area of 1200 acres will probably be opened as soon as the 1917 crop is off. Still another good tract is the Lepolua land beyond Hakalau, which is yet to be surveyed.

AD FIRM MOVES TO NEW OFFICES; OPENS TOMORROW

The Charles R. Frazier Company, advertising agents, have moved to a fine suite of offices on the top floor of the Hawaiian Trust building, recently vacated by the Libby, McNeill & Libby Company, and will be ready to meet their old customers tomorrow morning.

Odd as it may seem, these are the same premises in which Mr. Frazier started his advertising agency work over 15 years ago. Since that time he and his organization have been handling the advertising of many of the most progressive business firms in Hawaii and have kept pace with the business growth of Honolulu. The Frazier company also handles the Honolulu advertising of a number of mainland concerns, among them the Standard Oil Company.

Since Mr. Frazier's recent return from the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at Philadelphia, he is preparing to broaden his service to his clients in many ways, one of which in particular being that of merchandising. His long experience with local marketing conditions should fit him well for this special line of service.

GERMAN OFFICIAL CABLEGRAMS

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 3.—North and south of Somme sharp artillery duels are going on. Hand grenade combats in sector of Fourcaux wood and Longueval also. A French attack southeast of Matreux remained unsuccessful. Near Estrees, in the evenings, we reconquered a trench yet in the enemy's hands. East Meuse, fire activity temporarily recommenced with intensity.

Prince Leopold's Bavarian front: Russian, southwest of Luck, continued efforts against troops under Gen. Litman's command. Repeated Russian attacks, carried out with multiple superiority, obtained temporary success near Korytkia. Our counter-attack drove the enemy back in disorder. Yesterday and day before yesterday 10 officers, 1100 men were prisoners and several machine guns taken.

North of Seborow our troops in counter attacks gained terrain.

Archduke Carl's front: Northwest of Maryampol, on the Dniester, Russian forces which had advanced were driven back by artillery fire. In the Carpathians numerous enemy's isolated enterprises failed. Silesian troops' success on Kukul extended. Number of prisoners reached 250 officers and 373 men. Seven machine guns and two mine-throwers were taken.

Balkan front: No incidents of importance.

YESTERDAY'S REPORT

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 3.—Artillery battle in Somme district reached its highest intensity today. Strong enemy's attacks broke down this evening between Maurepas and Clercy. In East Meuse fire preparations extended to the fronts of Thiaumont and Vaux, followed by attacks only on both sides of the Vaux road near Souilly. Attacks were repulsed.

Prince Leopold's Bavarian front: North of Zborox strong Russian forces made fresh attacks, being completely repulsed partly in bayonet combats by brave troops under Gen. von Eben's command.

Archduke Carl's front: Local combats east and southeast of Bruzany are going on. Enemy's attacks were repulsed in combats and in some separate places are yet going on.

In the Carpathians enemy's enterprises are principally directed against Magura and Heights southeastward. The enemy had no success besides Ploska Heights, southeast of Zelona, which after several unsuccessful stormings remained in the enemy's hands.

On both sides of Bistritz, on the Rumanian frontier, German and Austro-Hungarian vanguards in combat with Rumanians. German and Bulgarian troops crossed Dobrudzha frontier between the Danube and the Black Sea.

Rumanian frontier: Guards driven back with losses. Macedonian front: No incidents of importance.

PLAIN DRUNK CAUSES ONE-FOURTH OF ALL ARRESTS BY POLICE

In round numbers there were 600 arrests jotted down on the police blotter during August. Of these approximately 150 were held for drunkenness. These were marked "Detention," "Safe-keeping" and "Drunk," but they all meant the same thing. Many more were on the blotter indirectly because booze brought them there on a more serious charge.

receipt for a foreign money-order to Japan for $315. This violates the start foreign money-order regulations, which place $100 as the maximum amount for which any United States money-order to Japan can be made. Keshokalo should have in this instance made out four receipts, three for $100 each and the fourth for $15, and given them to the consignor.

The Paia postmaster, however, gave the Japanese a receipt for $315 and put the money in his pocket. He then took the duplicate portion of the order, known as the "advice," also numbered 6753, and waited until another Japanese came along and asked for a $25 money order. Keshokalo made out the $25 order on the "advice" for the $315 order, and sent the "advice" to Honolulu, the exchange-office for the territory. He seems to have followed this system in nearly every case, to hinder the inspectors here and in Japan in solving the mystery.

COMMERCIAL CLUB FOR HILO IS PROPOSED; PLANS NOT MATURED

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

HILO, Sept. 3.—The Hilo will in the near future have a Commercial Club of her own and one modeled on the lines of the Honolulu organization is the latest story of the development and broadening out of the Crescent Bay City. The plans are not matured yet, but there are several men considering the proposition. The scheme was first broached by E. H. Austin, who pointed out that Hilo is now large enough to support a commercial club, where the members could have comfortable quarters and where all the comforts usually found in a club of the kind are to be found.

"A commercial club for Hilo would be an excellent scheme," says Austin, "and I can see nothing to block such a move being made. The club could secure quarters in a central position and everything that usually goes with a club of the sort would be provided. The members could have luncheon there; there would be reading and smoking rooms, and, of course, a billiard table would be provided."

While nothing definite has been done regarding the starting up of the club, it has been suggested that quarters could be secured in the Volcano block on Wai'ananae street. The whole upper floor of the building would make a fine clubhouse, say many people who have heard of the scheme.

POLICE NOTES

Kukela was arrested late Saturday night by the police when he nearly started several riots and near-stabbing parties in Aala lane near the Ah Leong block. Policeman Isaac Iaea says Kukela was "in his liquor" and anxious to fight.

On a charge of selling liquor without a license Sereffino was arrested Sunday night at Camp 2 on Vineyard street by Liquor Inspector W. P. Ferrell. The inspector says Sereffino sold one quart of wine, to his knowledge, for 75 cents. Sereffino will be in police court probably tomorrow.

Yamatagi has been arrested by the police and probably will be charged in police court with heedless driving as a result of an accident Saturday evening on King street near Morris lane, when the defendant is said to have driven too close to a Rapid Transit car from which little Becky Kabanu was dismounting, knocking her down with the heavy truck and bruising her head and foot. The girl was taken immediately to the Queen's hospital.

W. Bell of the U. S. armored cruiser St. Louis was shot in the hand Saturday night on King street near Alakaa street about 10:30 by a highwayman who relieved him of $3 according to a story the victim told two Fort Kamehameha soldiers, H. W. Jarvis and A. W. Bateman, who came to his assistance and took him to the emergency hospital. The police are looking for a man fitting the description given by Bell. The latter has been taken to the Fort Shafter department hospital.

Governor Whitman declined to comment on the alleged confession of Irving King that he had murdered Charles Phelps and his housekeeper, for which crime Charles Stillow was sentenced to death.

Quiet Streets and Empty Offices Proclaim City Taking
It Easy

With practically all of the downtown business houses closed in celebration of Labor Day, with territorial and municipal offices void of the usual officials and clerks, and with most of those persons usually seen on the streets in the early forenoon hours off for the day to Waikiki, the race track or the mountains, Honolulu very early today took on an atmosphere of quiet that lasted through upbroken.

Save for an ambitious clerk or two who wished to get some back files in shape for the coming week, or for the officials at the police station and the federal marshal's office who "simply had to be there," there was no sign of life in the places that usually throb with it.

Boy scouts on the first lap of their big hike to the windward side of the island broke the unwanted stillness with the rap-tap of their drum for a little while this morning.

Most of the stores in the Oriental section were open this morning and did a fair business with the tourists from the Ecuador. Even some of these stores closed in the afternoon, however, their owners going forth to celebrate the holiday. Some groceries and meat markets kept open until noon to meet the wants of housekeepers whose larders were in need of replenishment.

JAPANESE WRITER HAS UNFORTUNATE EXPERIENCE

Kazan Kayahara, the Japanese writer, will not leave here for the mainland until Wednesday on the liner Wilhelmina. He has been very unfortunate since he arrived here. He cannot leave here on the Shinyo Maru on account of the coastwise law, since he did not buy a through ticket from Yokohama to San Francisco. He also lost his pocketbook, which contained a check of the Yokohama Specie Bank for $5000 and some important papers. Saturday, on Fort street, between the office of Castle & Cooke and the custom house, and it has not yet been found.
